

Tickify Data Dictionary

Ticket	A file the customer receives after a successful payment, it allows entry at the specific event. The organizers may define the ticket number, category and price.
Event	Something of importance that takes place, could be a concert, festival, sporting event and so on.
Unknown user	A person who visits and browses the website, stays anonymous until they decide to register.
Customer	A person who is registered in the system. Apart from the unknown user functions, it is also able to buy tickets. It has to log in to be recognised as a customer.
Organizer	Provides the events and tickets and sets the prices and amounts. It is also in charge of cancelling the events if necessary.
Account	Set of details belonging to a customer or organizer so the system can recognize them.
Order	The act of buying a ticket, one of the final stages of using the site.
Admin	Person in control of the website, makes sure everything runs smoothly and the way it is supposed to.
Payment	Crucial part of “booking”. It is the action done in order to acquire a ticket. If the user is unable to pay for the ticket, the booking is cancelled. It must be done between 10 days.
Ticket price	It is the amount of money needed to pay to the organizer in order to get access to the event. It is fixed by the organizer.

Ticket category	It defines a group of tickets belonging to an event. Normally used to define different prices options.
Event date	The moment in time when the event is going to take place. It should provide the day, month, year and hour.
Event description	Description of what the event would be about. It can include information such as a brief explanation of the event, name of the actors, ...
Event location	Gives the website user information about the location where the event will take place.
Event file path	It points out the address where a possible image or file belonging to one event can be found.
Event category	Used to define events that have some features in common. We can have cinema and theatre events, sport events, family events, musicals & shows and expositions.
Register	Process of sharing information with the system in order to be recognised on later occasions. It can be done by customers or organizers.
Register form	Form given by the system during registration steps which requires to the user all the information needed for registration.
Log in	Procedure which allows you to use full website functionalities after introducing a correct username and password.
Username	In this case, is the e-mail given during the registration steps.
Password	A secret combination of letters, numbers and characters chosen by the website user during registration steps. It is used to obtain access to the website.

Upload Event	Process done by the organizer with the intention of sharing its event to the website users and trying to attract possible customers.
--------------	--